The Princess Majestic is the first ship of the Princess Cruise Line designed and built exclusively for the Chinese market. With a gross tonnage of 145,000 and a capacity of over 3,500 passengers, it was constructed based on the successful designs of previous vessels, namely the “Royal Princess” and “Regal Princess.” For this ship, we crafted, in our laboratories, the Spa Area using a combination of techniques and materials that contribute to creating an overall atmosphere of luxury and elegance.

The first in its class, this vessel is the inaugural ship constructed for NCL by Fincantieri. The extraordinary task of overseeing the ship's interior design was bestowed upon the esteemed Italian architect Piero Lissoni in collaboration with prominent architectural firms from Sweden and the United States. We acknowledge our dual involvement in this endeavour with a profound sense of pride. Naval Interior has contributed to bringing the illustrious Mandara Spa project to fruition, exhibiting meticulous craftsmanship and attention to detail; it is one of the most opulent spa facilities conceived. It boasts an impressive array of 22 treatment rooms.
